

Heating Instructions

The central heating is controlled by the thermostat in the hall beside the back door, it is usually set at 20 degrees, but if you need more heat, please feel free to turn it up.

The heating system is set to automatically come on morning and late afternoon. If you wish to switch it on outwith these times, the heating system controller is located on the right hand wall of the utility cupboard next to downstairs bathroom.

You will see that on one side of the controller, there is a little radiator symbol. To get an additional hour of heating, please press the “+ 1hr advance” button on that side of the controller, and this will give you an additional hour.

If you wish to have the central heating on all day, flip down the front cover of the controller, press the Mode Select button and change from Auto to All Day. Please would guests kindly change this setting back to auto before leaving the property.

Please do not switch off the central heating at the wall or on the controller.

The hot water is set to automatically come on to heat in the morning and late afternoon also. If you need more hot water outside of when it automatically comes on, please go to the same controller as for the heating. You will see the little tap symbol, to get an additional hour of water heating, please press the “+ 1hr advance” button, which will heat the water for an additional hour. If you need more hot water, simply press that button again to make it come on for an additional hour.
